Vienna, October 24, N. S.

ON Saturday laſt, late in the Evening, Count Pertuſati, an Adjutant General to Count Seckendorff, arrived here with Advice, that the Turks, who had been at the Action with Count Kevenhuller upon the River Timock, having been conſiderably reinforced at Widdin, had turn'd towards Niſſa, after having taken the Poſt of Paſſo Anguſto, where they cut to Pieces a Battallion of Bareuth, which was there in Garriſon; that they had immediately ſurrounded the Town of Niſſa, and ſummoned General Doxat, who commands there, to ſurrender the Place, acquainting him at the ſame Time, that beſides the Troops that were already there, they expected every Day a numerous Army, with a great Train of Artillery; that the Commandant refuſed to ſurrender, but after ſeveral Meſſages ſent forward and backward, they agreed, that if the ſaid Turkiſh Army appeared before the Place, if there were no Hopes of being ſuccoured, and if the General of the Imperial Army Count Seckendorff conſented to it, he M. Doxat would then ſurrender the Place, if he might have an honourable Capitulation; upon which Hoſtages were given reciprocally, and General Doxat ſent an Expreſs to Marſhal Seckendorff, who ſent Count Pertuſati hither to receive Orders whether the whole Army ſhall march to ſuccour Niſſa, or not. A Council of War was held here upon this Occaſion on Sunday laſt, and the Day following a Courier was ſent to General Doxat with Orders that are not yet divulged. Count Seckendorff was to leave the Command of the Army on the 20th Inſtant, and to ſet out for this Place.

Vienna, October 26, N. S. Count Seckendorff's Secretary arrived here this Morning, and the Marſhal himſelf will be here To morrow Night; he brings General Diemar with him, pretty well recovered of the Wound he received before Uſitza; according to Count Seckendorff's Secretary's Report, Niſſa was not ſurrendred on the 16th Inſtant.

Whitehall, November 1.

On Saturday laſt about Two in the Afternoon, their Majeſties with his Royal Highneſs the Duke, and their Royal Highneſſes the Princeſſes Amelia, Caroline, Mary, and Louiſa, came from Hampton Court to St. James's, to reſide there during the Winter Seaſon.

Sunday being the Anniverſary of his Majeſty's Birth Day was obſerved Yeſterday. At Noon his Majeſty received the Compliments of the Nobility, Foreign Miniſters, and other Perſons of Diſtinction; and at Night there was a Ball. The Appearance was at both Times very numerous and extremely ſplendid. The Guns in the Park and at the Tower were fired on Sunday; and laſt Night there were Bonfires, Illuminations, and other publick Demonſtrations of Joy throughout London and Weſtminſter.
